

REVVY.

TOURISM TALKS

HOW TO BECOME A REVELSTOKE LOCAL

Revelstoke is a great place to visit and an even better place to live. Many of our residents are people who visited on a ski holiday, stayed for the season, and then ended up staying even longer. If you're coming to Revelstoke this winter and planning on working for the season, get ready to commit to moving here for the long term. There's something about this place that you just can't shake.

Here are some tips for those of you who are just moving to Revelstoke :

1. Participate in the Revelstoke Ambassador Program.

If you're working in the service industry, participate in the Revelstoke Ambassador Program. We want to ensure that visitors to our town feel welcome and have a positive experience. This program will help you be informed on all of the visitor services we have to offer and get you access to discounts around town, including on your ski pass!

2. Learn a little more about what Revelstoke has to offer.

Head to the Revelstoke Visitor Information Centre and chat with the staff. They've got maps, brochures, Revy swag, and tons of ideas for things to do in Revelstoke.

3. Learn about our local history and culture.

We are home to some great local museums and arts organizations. Make sure to take in an art opening at the Revelstoke Visual Arts Centre, snag tickets to REVY. Live, and visit our museums.

4. Check out our local restaurants.

Take the opportunity to check out our local restaurants (before the busy winter season if you can!). We've got a ton of great food options, most of which are very affordable.

5. Try a new sport.

There's got to be something you haven't tried. Have you ever fat biked? Snowshoed? Nordic skied? Snowmobiled? Fly fished? Rentals are available from various providers and we have no shortage of experienced guides.

6. Get involved in our community.

Volunteer for something. One of the things that makes Revelstoke special is our residents' commitment to the community. There are some amazing non-profit organizations to match your interests. Find something you're passionate about and reach out to volunteer.

To read previous Tourism Talks columns, check out seerevelstoke.com/tourism-talks