CANYON HOT SPRINGS

The mineral waters of Albert Canyon were allegedly discovered by CPR workmen at the turn of the century.

They built a timber enclosure at the site of the springs as this was used as a pool until the townsite was abandoned when the Canadian Pacific Railway removed the maintenance post.

Today, water from the spring is piped almost 2 miles down the valley side to feed the 15,000 gallon hot pool and our 60,000 gallon swimming pool. The Hot Mineral Soaking Pool temperature is 104°F (40°C) and the swimming pool is 86°F (32°C).
